HELLO RANDOLPH -

Brrrrrr...after a beautiful autumn filled with football and falling leaves, Winter is upon us. Randolph Community Television is gearing up to bring you the best of Randolph this holiday season and throughout the Winter months. We hope that between feasting on turkey and snuggling up near the fire, you tune in to channels 8, 10, & 22 for holiday concerts, the annual tree lighting, a visit to local houses of worship and, of course, our regular coverage of town wide municipalities and events. Here at Randolph Community Television, we take pride in showing you the inner workings of the town and its wide variety of people and activities. The next ten years hold so much promise and RCTV will be there all the way. Thanks for tuning in!!

A New Contract, A New Decade for RCTV -

The Town of Randolph has come to a license agreement with cable provider Comcast for the next ten years. A primary purpose of this contract is to obtain funding for Randolph Community Television. The last decade saw great success for RCTV, but this was accomplished on a shoestring budget. A strong ascertainment hearing last year, showed that RCTV has a large following of viewers that are very pleased with the programming. With this and other ammunition for negotiation, the Randolph Cable Advisory Committee was able to hammer out a much improved contract with Comcast that includes additional funding for Randolph Community Television. In short, viewers can look forward to another ten years of fantastic programming here in Randolph! RCTV strives to continue to bring you the best from your town!

Holidays in Randolph-

Thanksgiving football, holiday lights, Christmas carols, and strolling through the shops downtown. However you celebrate the holidays, we hope that you have egg nog in one hand and your television's remote in the other. This November and December you can catch the Holiday Tree Lighting and Stroll, school concerts, sports and more on Randolph Community Television. Ken Simmons will take you to the Harmony Hill Farm and to many of the local houses of worship. We at RCTV wish you and you family the very best this holiday season!

RCTV Program Director Moves On -

After 10 years, RCTV Program Director Anders F. Geering is moving on.. Geering accepted a position at Harvard Business School as their new 'Senior Media Technology Specialist'. Since RCTV's inception, Geering has served as Program Director in Randolph and has done everything from studio construction to television production to volunteer recruitment and training. His hard work and effort helped shape what RCTV has become today. "Randolph and its citizens have really become a part of my life...I'm excited to move on to the next chapter, but will miss all of the great people and friendships I've made over the last decade." said Geering. Please join us in wishing Anders F. Geering good luck with his new position, he will be missed.
