Hello from RCTV!- Greetings and salutations everyone and a special hello to all our new volunteers! Summer's heating up and things are really rolling at RCTV. From High School Graduation to walking the streets of Randolph for "Beneath the Elms," our production schedule has been non-stop. Thanks goes out to all our volunteers and producers for helping us keep up with this busy schedule. We couldn't do it without you!

With the recent installment of air conditioning in our studio, we are on our way to completion. New equipment is arriving while the design and construction of consoles for our edit and control rooms are underway. Once the consoles are completed, we can decide which new equipment can fill the studio. Progress is still slower than expected, but getting the air conditioning units installed got us over a big hill. Patience and perseverance will pay off when we officially open the studio because it is going to be great! Enjoy the newsletter and, as always, feel free to contact us with any questions or concerns.

Night Before the 4th of July Parade- It wouldn't be Summer in Randolph without the Annual Night Before the 4th of July Parade & Fireworks and RCTV was there. As one of our biggest productions of the year, our parade set-up started early as we staked out a spot on N. Main Street. At 7pm sharp, our crew went into action and brought the home viewers the colorful sights and terrific sounds that make up Randolph's parade...and we even avoided the rain. As the parade ended, RCTV rolled its camera up the street to capture the fireworks from Randolph High School. A big congratulations goes out to our crack volunteer crew for helping to produce this great coverage. Things went incredibly smooth and our volunteers should be proud! Special thanks to the RCTV parade crew: Jean Duddy, Eddie Duddy, Paul Duddy, Peg Duddy, Oscar Jackson, Abdrahman Oladigbolu, Max Gladstone, Mike MacDonald, Jonathan Galina, Harris Bloomwald, Larry Azer, and Brian Howard.

Concerts at the Gazebo- Another Summer tradition is the Randolph Community Arts Council's presentation of Concerts at the Williams Gazebo. Every Tuesday night, citizens are treated to a free show of some fantastic music at the Williams Gazebo at the corner of North and Pleasant Streets. RCTV is there every week to bring these events to our viewing audience. We are making use of our new wireless camera system while our newest volunteers are rapidly learning this fast paced production. These concerts can be seen LIVE Tuesday nights on Channel 8 in Randolph with replays throughout the week. Thanks to: Paul Duddy, Peg Duddy, Eddie Duddy, Abdrahman Oladigbolu, Aaron Fellman, Alex Phillips, Jean Duddy, David LaCivita and Jonathan Galina for their volunteer help!
