Hello from RCTV- Welcome to the Winter addition of the RCTV Newsletter! What a busy year this has been. RCTV was there for the Randolph High School Blue Devils Football home games. All our new volunteers (and some regulars) really shined this season! The Blue Devils were captured on camera with style...some great slo-motion replays, nice camera work, and of course some informative commentary from our announcers. RCTV would like to give a huge pat on the back to all our volunteers who worked so hard to help us with this production. A great job to everyone and we couldn't have done it without you! Paul Duddy, Peg Duddy, Jeremy Roby, Eric Gladstone, Abdrahman Oladigbolu, Aaron Fellman, Eddie Duddy, David Carty, Paul F. Duddy Jr., Alex Phillips, Jean Duddy, Larry Azer, Tom Burke, Brian Carnes, and Brian Howard. We hope to see all of you next year...GO BLUE DEVILS!!!

Beneath The Elms- This show takes you on a journey through the history and historic places of Randolph. Hosts Ken Simmons and Henry Cooke IV recently took us on a trip to the oldest house in Randolph. Ghost stories and mysteries were told in the beautifully restored Joseph Mann House. From there, it was on to Central Cemetery, on North Street, where Ken showed us the creepy "petrified" tree and Henry revealed the oldest gravesites in Randolph.

For the Holiday Season, "Beneath The Elms" traveled to the Harmony Hill Farm run by Will and Evelyn Adams. One of the earliest farms in Randolph, it is still run much of the same way it has been for years. Some beautiful horses, cows, and scenery gave folks a glimpse into life on a farm.

We hope that everyone enjoys this show. Stay tuned as "Beneath the Elms" continues its journey around historic Randolph in the upcoming months.

Veterans, POW's, & MIA's- Several days of solemn remembrance, honor, and heartfelt gratitude were brought to the RCTV viewers this November. The Town of Randolph honored its Veterans with its traditional salute to their bravery and service to the United States of America. RCTV joins them in their gratitude.

Also in November, Randolph unveiled a memorial stone dedicated to Prisoners of War and American Servicemen who are Missing in Action. Located at Post 51 on Amvets Lane, this stone is a stark reminder of our heroes who are lost to us or are still prisoners of another land.

Our thanks go out to camera operator, Jean Duddy, for capturing these solemn moments for our viewers.
