Hello from RCTV! Hey there, Randolph! We hope you're having a great winter. RCTV has been busy keeping up with all of Randolph's activities including the High School Winter Concert and Holiday On Ice videotaped by Paul Duddy, Jr. Also, Randolph's Holiday Tree Lighting was a huge success, hosted by RCTV volunteer Jean Duddy. We hope you were able to enjoy these productions throughout the winter season. In addition to these programs, RCTV held its fourth workshop series to train new volunteers. We would like to welcome Jill Chandler, Eric Estremera, Paula M. King and Neftali Ortiz to our volunteer crew. They did a great job learning about tv production and they are eager to serve as crew for our upcoming productions.

High School Basketball- The Randolph High School Basketball season is in full swing. Once again, RCTV volunteer, Chuck Christian, serves as the "Voice of Randolph High Basketball" and brings his play-by-play and insight to the game. In addition to Boys Varsity games, Chuck will be bringing viewers as many Boys Freshman and Junior varsity games as he can. Chuck is joined this year by RCTV veteran cameraman, Alex Phillips and newcomers Eric Estremera and Jill Chandler. Of course, our basketball coverage can still use more crew and any interested volunteers should contact RCTV. All Basketball games are shown on Educational Channel 22. Tune to this channel for the evenings telecast schedule.

Henry Cooke IV & Ken Simmons
"Beneath The Elms"

Beneath The Elms- If you've tuned in to RCTV recently, you've probably seen several episodes of Wandering Randolph. Ken Simmons gave Randolph residents a tour of the Randolph Community Middle School, Randolph High School, and Randolph Community Food Pantry. In the near future, Ken will rejoin Randolph Town Historian Henry Cooke IV for a continuation of their historic series Beneath The Elms. Focusing on historic aspects of the town of Randolph, Beneath the Elms has given our viewers an inside look at Stetson Hall, Central Cemetery and many other historical sights. The tradition continues as Henry and Ken plan to take viewers to other exciting locations in Randolph. RCTV's production of Beneath the Elms really gives Randolph residents a sense of the history and community of their town. It takes you behind the scenes and into the past to give you a better sense of what makes Randolph, Massachusetts unique. The past is brought to life with old photographs, historic artifacts, and Henry's never-ending knowledge of not only Randolph, but the history of Massachusetts and the United States itself. RCTV is proud to present this series to the people of Randolph. Don't miss it!

Spring Forums and Elections- Before you know it, winter will be over and Randolph will have election fever. RCTV will again provide coverage for the annual Candidates Forum, sponsored by the Randolph Chamber of Commerce. This year's forum is scheduled for Tuesday, March 25, 2003. This forum is an opportunity for candidates in contested offices to voice their opinions and answer questions from the town's citizens. Informed voters will then hit the polling locations on Tuesday, April 1, 2003 for Randolph's Annual Town Election. RCTV will cover both of these events live on location. Any interested RCTV volunteers should contact us as soon as possible if they want to be part of the crew. We hope to hear from you soon.
